

Final estimated year-end distributions

Below is a list of estimated year-end distributions for Vanguard mutual funds and ETFs. Capital gains estimates are broken down by short-term, long-term, and total gains.

To estimate the distribution for a fund on this list, multiply the fund's estimated rate per share by the number of shares owned.

This is an updated and expanded version of the information announced on November 11, 2024. However, the information presented here is not final, and all estimates are subject to change. Actual year-end distributions may be higher or lower based on market volatility, portfolio and shareholder activity, and tax adjustments. Income dividend amounts are estimated and may change based on the net income a fund actually earns in the month of December. For final year-end distribution rates for a fund, check the fund's profile in the Investments area of our website after its declaration date. In early January 2025, the funds' Price & distributions tab will be updated to include year-end distributions for all funds.

Bond funds are not listed if they distribute dividends monthly and are not expected to distribute capital gains this year.

Note: Funds not listed did not expect, as of December 10, 2024, to distribute capital gains in December.

Vanguard ETF Shares are not redeemable with the issuing Fund other than in very large aggregations worth millions of dollars. Instead, investors must buy and sell Vanguard ETF Shares in the secondary market and hold those shares in a brokerage account. In doing so, the investor may incur brokerage commissions and may pay more than net asset value when buying and receive less than net asset value when selling.
